Brain Health Requires Democratic Health

- Brain health requires individual, family, and community health
- Community health requires public health and public safety
- Public health and safety require social and societal health
- Social and societal health require healthy open societies
- Healthy open societies require democracy, not autocracy
- Brain health requires democratic health
- Guardians 2025 C Taswell “Who Defends Democracy and Decency?”

Civility, Courtesy, Tolerance, and Respect

- People talking to people, scholars listening to scholars politicians negotiating with politicians
- People, scholars and politicians should hear each other
- Scholars should practice citational justice and refrain from ghosting other scholars with willful disregard
- Politicians should practice representational justice and refrain from ghosting other politicians with willful disregard
- Ad hominem personal insults, lies, and attacks against others should be prohibited from both academics and politics
- Academicians and politicians should bear a duty and responsibility to serve as role models and safety officers for their communities if they wish to serve as leaders of those communities
- Guardians 2025 C Taswell "Who Defends Democracy and Decency?"

Who Practices What They Preach?

- Should the pot call the kettle black?
- Should the fox guard the hen house?
- Did the boy cry wolf?
- Does the emperor wear no clothes?
- Should people who live in glass houses throw stones?
- Those who promised to drain the swamp,
  did they drain it or did they fill it?
- Who can no longer speak their words?
  With misuse and abuse of those words turned into their opposites, upside-down and inside-out?

Survival, Memory, and Unbroken Lineage

- Truth always prevails despite those who attempt to falsify and rewrite history with lies and propaganda.
- "We're Still Here" performed by Native American LoFi-N-Chill.
- "Heritage of Moslavina: Life in Wooden Houses" presented by Iva Galić and students.
- Let's help celebrate "survival, memory, and unbroken lineage" for all peoples and their communities around the world.
- Let's call for peace and demand an end to war. We need a rebirth of the flower power movement.
